

University of Chicago Paris Center
Symposium on Astrology, Magic, and Science in Early Modern France and Spain

Friday, January 21, 2010, 2:00-6:00 pm

PRESENTATIONS and discussion:

2:00 pm "Visiting the Mad Scientist in Early Modern Spain: the Literature on Juan de Espina," Enrique García Santo-Tomás (University of Michigan)

2:45 "Montaigne on Scientific Imagination," Philippe Desan (University of Chicago)

3:30 "Ancient Magics: Don Quixote among the Saracens," Frederick A. de Armas (University of Chicago)

4:15 "From the Relics to Wonders: The Cave of Montesinos and the Monastery of the Escorial" Jesús Botello (University of Chicago)

5:00 Julio Vélez-Sainz "Folklore and Astrology in Renaissance Spanish Theater: The Case of Bartolomé de Torres Naharro" (Universidad Complutense de Madrid)